REVIEWS

“Jason Thorpe Buchanan's Hunger, loosely based Knut Hamsun's novel, is a kind of training session in mental disintegration. Darcie Dennigan's libretto is elliptical... An ungodly opera needs ugly music, singers who produce primal sounds, an electric guitar that sounds scraped raw, a wailing orchestra effects, cuts the ear like a knife. Buchanan delivers.”

- Mark Swed, 2015 Los Angeles Times (HUNGER, The Industry's FIRST TAKE 2015 with wild Up)

“The [Switch~ Ensemble] moved with its music...at the limits of convention, and sometimes even exceeded this too. The concert-goers had to be prepared for a lot of experimental works, but they also got musical experiences that can only be given live... In the piece composed by Jason Thorpe Buchanan about texts by Pablo Neruda, metallic sounds meet the warm tones of the wind instruments and strings, whispering voices sound mysterious. Sounds and noises seem to want to tell of a secret—without ultimately revealing it.”

- Thoralf Winkler, 2021 Magdeburg Blende Acht (translated from German)

“an unearthly collage of sounds... though conceptually direct, the resulting sounds were delightfully ambiguous: frantic joy could be as easily heard as extreme distemperment.”

- Daniel J. Kushner, 2013 New Music Box (Asymptotic Flux: First Study in Entropy, June in Buffalo)

“The plain speaking poetry of Katherine Thorpe glittered in this setting, all sharp colors and piano notes like drops of water... shimmering.”

- Adam Broner, 2010 Piedmont Post (Berlin Songs, 2nd Annual Melos Music Festival, San Francisco)

“Rowdy and Raucous” - Jacob Gotlib, 2015 ARTx FM (Double Concerto for Two Horns and Chamber Orchestra)

Jason Thorpe Buchanan is an American composer of operatic, orchestral, chamber, electroacoustic, and intermedia works which explore fragmentation, multiplicity, intelligibility, behavior, and the integration of live performance with technology. He is Artistic Director of the [Switch~ Ensemble] and Artistic Associate/Lecturer in New Media and Digital Technologies for Music at the Hochschule für Musik Carl Maria von Weber Dresden, Germany in the Hybrid Music Lab. He previously served from 2018-2022 as Department

Chair/Lecturer in Composition, Theory, and Electroacoustic Music at the College of Music, Mahidol University in Thailand, 2022 Interim Managing Director of the Mizzou New Music Initiative at the University of Missouri, and 2020 Visiting Lecturer in Composition/Interim Director of the Electronic Music Studios (UTEMS) at the Butler School of Music, University of Texas at Austin. His works have been described as “an unearthly collage of sounds”, “sharply-edged”, and “free jazz gone wrong—in a good way.”

As a nominee for the 2015 Gaudeamus Prize, three works were presented by Insomnio, the New European Ensemble, and Slagwerk Den Haag at Gaudeamus Muziekweek (NL). His works walkside, lost and gimme shelter (2015), commissioned by Gaudeamus for Slagwerk Den Haag and by Eklekto Percussion Geneva, both explore the structural intersection of precise physical gestures, fragile sounds, and speech alongside live audio and video processing. Three speaking percussionists manipulate household objects, microphones, and speakers embedded in wooden boxes while cameras generate a reservoir of video files. These files are retrieved, re-organized, and composited against one another, creating temporal, aural, and visual dissonances between past and present actions. As 2018 Artist-In-Residence at the Embassy of Foreign Artists in Geneva, Switzerland, he developed a new, interactive processing environment for surface, tension (2018), responding directly to the discrete physical gestures of performers and governing the behavior of both signal processing and soundfile triggering through wearable technology, sensors, and gestural tracking.

PANIC ARCHITECTURE (2017), commissioned by the Earle Brown Music Foundation for the Talea Ensemble and TIME SPANS Festival in NYC, evokes a participatory framework demanding compulsive interaction and attention. The relentless influx of email, messages, and notifications compel our constant engagement and response, functioning as both our tether to society and primary mode of interpersonal contact. Intermittent reinforcement entices users to obsessively check for new content. Digital panic occurs when multiple, simultaneous systems demand a user’s attention concurrently.

Scenes from his multimedia opera Hunger have received performances at Darmstadt (2014) with Ensemble Interface (DE), The Industry’s FIRST TAKE in L.A. (2015) with wild Up, and the MATA Interval Series in New York City (2015) with the [Switch~ Ensemble]. “Hunger is a kind of training session in mental disintegration... An ungodly opera needs ugly music, singers who produce primal sounds, an electric guitar that sounds scraped raw, a wailing orchestra effects, cuts the ear like a knife. Buchanan delivers.” – L.A. Times all-forgetting-is-retrieval (2019) for ensemble and augmented conductor was commissioned by the Thailand New Music and Arts Symposium, exploring the formation of human memory, retrieval, failure, and the emotional space of “lost” experiences—the inability to be truly present in a moment, or further commit to memory experiences that are simultaneously both formative and fleeting. The rapid loss of their fidelity is staggering, and this work is an attempt to confront that impermanence and decay. Reflexive Iterations (2020) for quintet and extended no-input mixer is, in some way, in response to the events of 2020 and designed as an antidote to life on the internet. A system dealing with corporeal attributes of physical space—air, sound, bodies—in a way that would not be possible with a digital system. The precise result is unknown prior to performance—subject to a staggering number of variables—as musicians interpret suggested physical actions while responding to their ramifications in an attempt to control a thing that, by its very nature, is precarious and mercurial.

Jason is the recipient of a 2010-11 Fulbright Fellowship at the Hochschule für Musik und Theater in Hamburg (DE) as a visiting scholar, a 2013 commission for Asymptotix Flux: Second Study in Entropy from the Mizzou International Composers Festival for Alarm Will Sound, the Howard Hanson Orchestral Prize (2014), a 2014 commission for Double Concerto from the International Horn Society written for the Eastman Musica Nova Ensemble, soloists Jeff Nelsen, Michael Walker, and conductor Brad Lubman, a 2014 commission from the Blue Water Chamber Orchestra as winner of Iron Composer (2014), two ASCAP Morton Gould Young Composer Awards (2014 & 2015), an American-Scandinavian Foundation Grant (2015), a fellowship and commissions from Royaumont for soliloquios del viento (2016), written for the Talea Ensemble+EXAUDI Vocal Ensemble (UK) and ACTOR-NETWORK THEORY (2017) for the Académie Voix Nouvelles Ensemble, and commissions from Ensemble Nikel/Tzlil Meudcan (Israel, 2014), Iktus Percussion (NYC, 2013), and the NY Virtuoso Singers (2015), a German/American Fulbright Commission (2011), winner of newEar Composer's Competition (2013), 2017 Artist-in-Residence at the Brush Creek Foundation (Wyoming), and 2015 Artist-in-Residence at USF Verftet/City Council of Bergen, Norway.

Primary mentors have included Ricardo Zohn-Muldoon, Steven Takasugi, Pierluigi Billone, Chaya Czernowin, Raphaël Cendo, David Liptak, Virko Baley, Peter Michael Hamel, Jorge Villavicencio Grossmann, Pablo Furman, and Georges Aperghis. Jason served for three years as Executive Director of the Valencia International Performance Academy & Festival (Spain), for two years as a Curator for the San Francisco Center for New Music, as founding Director of the TICF International Academy for Young Composers, and as a Faculty Artist at the International Composition Institute of Thailand, IntAct Festival. He holds a Ph.D. in Composition from the Eastman School of Music, and served as course instructor in electronic music and composition, board member of OSSIA, and assistant conductor for the Musica Nova Ensemble with conductor Brad Lubman as a doctoral student at the Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester (2011-2014).

As a guest composer, conductor, and lecturer, he is widely sought internationally at institutions such as the University of Chicago, Stanford University, TRANSIT Festival (Belgium), TIME SPANS Festival (NYC), Chamber Music Campania (Italy), the Eastman School of Music, the University of Miami Frost School of Music, Queens New Music Festival, MATA, the Thailand New Music and Arts Symposium, Yong Siew Toh Conservatory (Singapore), the Bergen Center for Elektronisk Kunst (BEK, Norway), and over two dozen Universities throughout the United States. Current projects include a large work on the subject of human memory titled The End of Forgetting, commissions from TACETi, Ecology of Disruption for Line Upon Line, the [Switch~ Ensemble], Ensemble Chemie, Hypercube, the Hong Kong New Music Ensemble, and violinist Lauren Cauley, with development of new systems for gestural tracking and interactivity within the Hybrid Music Lab, Dresden.
